Abstract: "Textile and Clothing Foreign Trade" is a basic course of textile engineering which contains rich ideological and political elements. In order to integrate ideological and political education into this course, our team takes the training goal of "Double First-Class" discipline as the standard. We take professional characteristics as the starting point and focus on the teaching goals of knowledge, ability and quality. We also adopt rich teaching methods, ideological and political education resources to teach students. Through ideological and political education, we can strengthen the cultivation and establishment of students' patriotism, craftsman spirit, sense of responsibility for our country and we make the students know what's team cooperation. Our team enrich the classroom teaching content, improve the teaching effect, and highlight the necessity and significance of ideological and political education in the course of "Textile and Clothing Foreign Trade".
